

Natasha Rosewood

Natasha was born in Bicester, England. Her unusual family, including a psychic mother and grandmother, lived in an old, haunted English watermill in Oxfordshire. When quite young, Natash met a gypsy who told her "You have the Sight, Dearie". In her 20's she began working with palmistry and later tarot, oracles, pendulums and psychometry.

In 1983 Natasha moved to Canada and became a full time psychic. She read for clients using clairvoyance, clairaudience and clairsentience. Her reputation grew until in 1997 she was hosting a Psychic Radio Show on CKVO.

Today Natasha travels across Canada to read for her clients. Her telephone reading clientele range from Switzerland and England to Alaska and California.

Natasha released the first in a four part series of books called "Augggh! I think I'm Psychic (and you can be too)". Media interviews and book-signing parties fill her days. A publisher in the UK picked up the book and Natasha has just returned from her first book tour in the UK. Natasha is currently writing her second book, "I see Dead People (and so can you)".

Natasha aslo facilitates "Develop your Psychic Ability" workshops Level I, II and III, "Separating Peacefully" workshops with lawyer Janneck Lewis, and her "You can do Magic" workshops for kids.

Psychic Coach & Spiritual Healer

Natasha Rosewood believes that we are all on a spiritual journey learning through our lifetime experiences how to evolve into more divinely intelligent, powerful, joyous and loving beings.

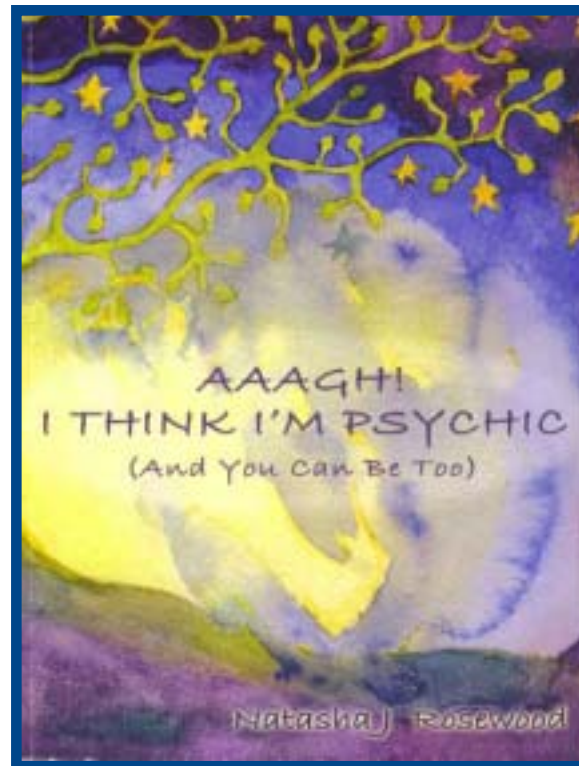

Natasha's readings can be in person or via telephone. She utilizes palmistry, tarot, oracles, and pendulums; psychometry clairvoyance, clairaudience and clairsentience.

"What mostly comes through in my readings is a combined offering of hope, revelation of hidden potential, reminders of a higher path, guidance for preventative actions, a deeper understanding of conflicts in relationship, and emotional, physical and spiritual healing.

Natasha's goal is to "bring light to the planet". Her strongest desire is to help people understand that psychic ability is simply a mind that is in a positive state, and fully utilized.

Published Writer

Natasha's book is about her life experiences and coming to grips with being psychic. The stories are heartfelt and genuine. Each story is followed by Metaphysical Endnotes to help the reader understand the spiritual meaning behind each story. This book is fun and stimulating, a fast read.
